HAZEN SETS RECORD ON NEOSHO GOLF COURSE

J. J. Hazen, manager of the Neosho Nurseries Company, enjoys the distinction of having made the lowest score for the Neosho Golf Course. Always a consistent and steady player, Hazen shot a 41 Thursday. Hazen is by no means a beginner, as he formerly resided in the east and had membership with several New York clubs. The Neosho course has a great many natural hazards and has gained a reputation for being a sporty one, so Hazen's accomplishment has created a great deal of comment among the patrons of the course.

A force of ten men has been working for the last month on the course, clearing out some of the shrubbery along the fairways. The fairways will not be widened or any of the hazards removed, as the course as laid out at present by the golf architect, Perry D. Maxwell of Oklahoma, will remain as it now is. However, the roughs will be cleared out enough to enable the unlucky ones to find a few balls. Some new greens are being laid out that will be ready by early spring, but as a whole the course will not be materially changed. Creeping bent will be employed on the new greens.

Ray Bond of Joplin, chairman of the Schifferdecker greens committee was a recent visitor to the Neosho course, playing a round with Atty. Leo H. Johnson. Bond expressed the belief that the course will be a most popular one after it is completed.—
