

Press Maxwell Enters Phillips' Academy

Press Maxwell, son of Perry Maxwell, 612 McLish avenue, has entered Phillips academy, Andover, Mass., one of the oldest boys' schools in the United States, for which he had been registered since he was seven years old. The school was established in 1777 and is heavily endowed.

In this historic and picturesque setting young Maxwell is living in a dormitory where it is said the the song America was written.
