

Tools and equipment were moved by local WPA workers this week to Lake Mt. Pleasant to begin preliminary work of sodding the land and construction of a municipal golf course.

In absence of Architect Perry Maxwell, first work on the course will be to clear underbrush, which will require several days, then the crew will start leveling off the land and transplanting Bermuda grass sod.

The construction of the golf course is attracting a great deal of interest all over this section.