

New Lake Hefner Golf Course Opens

Oklahoma City's newest golf course, the sporty new Lake Hefner layout, will be opened for the first time Wednesday.

City officials will attend a brief ceremony before the first golfers will be turned loose on the first nine holes. The back nine will not be opened for a few days.

Perry Maxwell, noted golf architect, designed and supervised construction of the $115,000 course, under construction the last two years.

Green fees of 75 cents will be charged week days and $1 on Saturday, Sunday and holidays. Maxwell will operate the course and other concessions under a contract with the city which diverts 5 percent of his gross income to the city treasurer.