

Consolidation of Banks

This is to say to all of our customers and friends that this Bank will consolidate with the First National Bank, effective on and after Monday, the 29th day of October, 1917, and that our Mr. G. W. Stuart and P. D. Maxwell will be active vice presidents of the First National Bank, where all of our customers and friends will find them ready and willing at all times to give them the same, if not better, service than they have heretofore received at their hands.

Our business will be moved and consolidated with that of the First National Bank at its present building on Washington and Main streets.

We specially request that all of our customers and friends continue their business with the First National Bank, where the two officers named below and clerical force will give them special attention.

The First National Bank has arranged to construct a modern building in every respect on the corner of Main and A streets, northwest, which will be ready for occupancy as soon as it can be finished, and the facilities for handling the business will be unequaled in the State of Oklahoma.

Ardmore National Bank
