Conferring with organizers of the Lake View Country club, in the completion of plans for the proposed new country club, Perry G. Maxwell, of Ardmore, Okla., spent yesterday in the city. Mr. Maxwell inspected the grounds of the new site. He is one of the leading golf course architects in the country and has designed and built some of the finest courses in the south.

Mr. Maxwell spent some months leading golf course architects in England, Scotland and Ireland, and has inspected all the great courses in the country. He is the son of Dr. James G. Maxwell, and has many friends in Paducah.

Maxwell stated that good possibilities were offered by the character and contour of the land owned by the Lake View Country club and predicts a golf course constructed there would be one of the finest in Kentucky.
