

Perry Maxwell, who is designing the new Municipal golf course, left yesterday for Ft. Worth to attend the National Open. . . . Mr. Maxwell designed the Colonial Country club course over which the Open is to be played next week and he wants to see how the pros like his layout. . . . He has designed many courses in all sections of the country and thinks the new course here will be one of his prettiest when completed late this summer.